Apple Seedlings.

In plowing ground for Apple Seedlings we use six heavy horses on our own specially constructed plows, plowing the ground from 12 to 14 inches deep—this is an important item as it insures long straight roots. The common way of shallow plowing 6 to 8 inches deep causes a great many seedlings to branch or bush out 6 to 8 inches below the collar, which is very unsatisfactory to those making piece root grafts.

Our seedling ground was plowed in the fall—another important item, as ground plowed in the fall settles during the winter making a good firm seed bed by spring which produces a straight stocky seedling.

In spring plowing the ground is loose and many of the seedlings lop over in raking, making “crooked collars” while the roots are often either kinky or crooked.

We have several fine blocks of seedlings this year, grown on new land, and they have made a splendid growth.

We offer the following grades:

No. 1, 3-16 and all up, straights .....	Prices on Application.
No. 1, 3-16 and all up, branched .....
No. 2, 2-16 to 3-16 inch, straights .....
No. 2, 2-16 to 3-16 inch, branched .....
No. 3, about 2-16 inch, straight and branched .....
Extra heavy $\frac{1}{4}$ inch and up, straights .....

Remember that our seedlings have been grown right, and that they will be dug and graded right, and that the price will be right too.

Will be pleased to mail samples after October 1st.

Apple Root Grafts.

Making Root Grafts for the trade is one of our specialties. We put up any style to order—any style of splice and any length of root and cion.

We use early cut cions and roots from new land free from "Root Gall."

We wrap our grafts with either waxed paper or string.

Waxed paper makes a very firm graft and at the same time excludes the air, water and dirt from the splice, allowing it to callous perfectly. We find that paper wrapped grafts sprout very little, while those wrapped with string are often very bad.

Would be pleased to mail samples of our paper wrapped grafts on request; we are sure they will please you.
